The Christmas Season.

THE WHIG extends to its readers the greetings of the season and how takes occasion to wish one and all a very merry Christmas. This is the happlest of the enced indeed is the person, no matter in what waik of life, in whose breast the significance of the day falls to awsken a sold for $4,000,000, probably the largest that will greatly lessen the cares of the paper and retires on account of ill health. MERRY CHRISTMAS

Eager to Aveić a Record. several other Republican members of the Senate toward the Election bill is calling forth a vigorous protest from the Republican lournals of the country. The intention of these Senators is too clearly manifested to be easily mistaken. They are opposed to the bill, but as this fact brings them in open conflict with the Republican platform they are seeking to prevent a vote on the measure and thus avoid putting themselves on record. This is particularly true of Sepator Cameron whose successor will be elected at the coming session of the Legislature. The Republicans of Pennsylvania are practically unanimous to support of this measure to give the country honest elections. If the bill comes to a vote Senstor Cameron must put himself on record as against it, or vote for it egainst his inclinations and this is a situation he is anxious to prevent. The entire Republican press of Pennsylvania, to far as we know. has severely criticised his course and the l'hiladelphia Press, the leading Republican journal of the State, is very outspokenialia censure. It says: in its censure. It says:

Mr. Cameron is reported to be axious to have the vote on the Elections bill poetponed until the Pennsylvania Legislature has chusch a United States Scanter to serve from March 4,next.. It is a very natural wish on his part. He deaires to vote with the Democrats bo this crucial party question and he doed not feel co sure of his re-election as to be willing to give officase needlessly to the deep-rooted Republicanism of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Cameron's recent course has shown that he is no longer in sympathy with the majorny of his party. -totil last week he had not attended a known of his party, ascustes for over a wear. Out the silver question he voted with the Democrats for rice silver coinage, and stands ready to-day to vote to put the dollar, mark on-every seventy cents worth of silver when-ever its opportunity is offered, a. Penosylvania might endure the inability of its Sentiora to sheek for it if open seaof its Senstora to speak for it is open session when the fate of measures e vital import to thang in the balance. It has become used to this drawback, though it is the only State in the Union which permits itself to be so handleapped. It has the right, at least, to insist that a Republican Legislature shall choose none but an middle Republican to representitle State. After next March the Senate will be very nearly equally divided. Two years later it is within the bounds of possibility has the Democrats may control both the House and the Executive, and the control of the Senate turn on a single vote. If that vote is J. Donald Cameron's, what will be the decision of the Senate? If the question of the Senate? If the proposition of the Senate? If the question of the Senate? If the proposition of the Senate? If the question of the Senate? If the proposition of the Senate? If the question of the Senate? If the proposition of the Senate? If the question of the Senate? If the question of the Senate? If the proposition of the Senate? If the question of the Senate? If the proposition of the Senate? If the proposition of the Senate? If the question of the Senate? If the proposition of the Senate? If the question of the Senate? If t of its Senstors to speak for it in open ses-sion when the fate of measures of vital im-ators from Colorado and Nevada.

Senator Cameron has shown inmistakably that he is opposed to the majority of his party, and in sympathy with the Democrats on these two vital issues. What other departures he will venture upon, white secure of another six years term, it would be rush to predict. He has good far snough to show that he is not a trustworthy Republican, and can no longer be relied upon to wete with his party on party questions. For these remons he ought not to represent any longer the secunds Republican State of Pennsylvania. His reclection by the coming Legislature would be, in our judgment, a political blunder, and a misfortune for this State.

To get an idea of the Bourbonism of the Northern apologists for slavery 50 years ago it is only necessary to read such articles as daily appear in the so-called indocles as daily appear in the so-called indo-pendent organs relative to the Election formed with issue Cantel Ballman as Monaco bill, says the Boston Traveller. The old statement was that those in the free States with Canadas Pacific Ballway. Who agritated the doctrine of Charles Ballway, for Sebes Williage and Ballman and Charles Ballway. who agitated the doctrine of Charles Summer that "liberty is na long! and slavery sections)," were the worst epemica of the slaves. It was also maintained by Northern men with Bouthern prociples that the relation of master and slave as it then existed was the best for all concerned. The readers of the Boston Herald todry are told that the condition of the two races at the Bouth, one voting and the KATAHDINHO ISE, order not, is working finely and the Rich is or public who dispare to one statement in the rest in the statement in the rest in the statement in the statement

> From Castine. NEW FOR BELL FOR DICE'S HEAD—CASE OF BURGLARY—PRESENTATION TO G. A. R. POST—STAMS OF GENERAL INTERST. [Special Correspondence Whig and Couries.]

Last Monday morning, says the Robinson Mills correspondence of the New-Horseld, a laster ocryphoded in F. C. Robinson's barn and the strong wind carried the flames to every part of the harn and in a few minutes the whole interior was in flames. Effects were made to save the stock hot one borse, two colds, a yoke of oxen, two cows, five hogs, and a finality quantity of hay was burned. At first it was considered impossible to save the house, and in a short time all faresture was removed. A fact of strength was performed by Charlie Robinson and James Gallope. A large iron aspet that requires six men to remove was ploked up and carried out by them as easily as a barrel of flour would have been. There was but alixeen inches between the corner of the barro and shed adjoining the house, in the house were burned, but through the persistent efforts of those present the fire was checked and the house saved. EV69EV where electric wires are la use to bave au M ≈ E. H. Greely, of Ellaworth, has a fluit terrier pup, four mouths old, which has made friends with one of the borses in the stable. This horse lies down in his stall with his blanket on. Every night the pup goes lot othet perticular stati, crawls under the blanket and there, on the horse's warm flesh, makes his bed for the night. To horse and dog this strange proceeding seems a mutual pleasure. The American is informed that the Elis-worth coat factory will be established to the Clark store on Water street and not in Retail Prices Current.

The trial at Rockhund of Hilton B. Wright, for the attempted murder of Deputy Sheriff Flanders and Hoo. L. M. Staples, at Washington, on the 2d of June last, pecupied the entire day, the Jury reticing with the case at half-part four. The longs delivered a very able charge, treating from the legal aspects of insantity and the degrees to which even persons mentally unsound might be held accountable for specific acts, and the lines beyond which they could not be held responsible, laid down the rules of the law in similar cases, and at twenty minatce past four the cases, and at twenty minutes past four the jury retured. In about fifteen minutes they returned to the court room with a verdict of "Not gailty, by reason of in-vocate or "not gatty, by teason of ta-sanity." The judge then remanded Hilton B. Wright to the custody of Superlutend-cut Sanborn of the Augusta Insane Asy-lum, to remain in custody until forther orders from the court. Brezdstuffs, Grain, etc.

Btyles in Addressing Lattern.

It is related of Tom Ochiltres that on his first visit to England he awakened diverse smoothers in the breasts of a country gentioman and of a tailor by addressing a letter to the gentleman, "Mr Thomas Ruggles," and a letter to the tuitor, "A. Fitwell, Esc." The centleman was copied offended.

ter to the gentleman, "Mr. Thomas Baiggles," and a letter to the tailor, "A. Fitwell, Esq." The gentleman was sorely offended and the tailor full llattered. The customs of this country make no particular distinction between the prefix "Mr." and the affix "Esq." In Engiand there is a wide distinction. The title "Esquire" is worn by justices of the peace, well to do country gentlemen and professional inco. It ranks next to knightheed. The prefix "Mr." is applied to tradesmen and other plain people of respectable callings. The miscelineous use of these two terms is sometimes confusing to students of social and commercial ediquette.

Here, for instance, is "G. V. W.," who in writing a boxiness note to a bank eishier, is puzzled to know which is the correct way to address the gontleman, "Mr. J. B.
Hotmes, Cashier," or "J. B. Holmes, Esq.
Cashier." Business courtesy knows on fixed-code by which such a question can be decided. In this country the prefix "Mr." is a parfectly proper aid respectful designation of any gentleman. Nothing more is necessary in addressing men not occupy ing official rank or station. On the other hand, the nilv "Esq." meaningless as it is here, is ancepted as a title of digatty, and certainly can give no offense. American business men are no sticklem for citles of any kind. Concipeness is the mali thing in their correspondence. Most of them would no doubt address" G. V. W. " buck friend us "J. B. Holmes, Cashier," and that would meet all requirements of bustness courtesy.—New York Times.

Not Much Carbon Gas

Not Much Carbon Gas.

There is a widespread belief that the presence of growing plants and cut flowers in come is in some ways prejudicial to those who sleep therein. This belief is probably due to the fack, learned at school, that plants give off at night carbonic acid, and the knowledge that this gas is irrespirable. A writer has vecently published the results of some experiments made in a closed greenhouse, showing how (anciful are these fears.)

In this greenhouse were 0,000 growing plants, and the average of three experiments made early on three different mornings after the place had been closed for more than twelve hours exhibited only 4.65 parts of carbonic scid per 10,000. We can judge by this experiment that from one or two plants the quantity of gasgiven off must be foly too small for recognition, and certainly many hundred times less than that formed by a burning there or vivef off by one pair of lunca.—Amateur than that formed by a burning theer or given off by one pair of lunga.—Amateur

He never was ugly, but once I gave him up and sent him off, he was so dult; then took him to school again, and I know no lien second to him now in intelligence and doclity. This is the point. A lion doesn't want to do things. He just doesn't want to. Now, you must make him. Punish him and you make him your enemy; afraid of you, and he gets worse, not better. It is patience, kindness, making them not ufraid of mefor I am not afraid of them—that has done the business. I have rehearsals all the time, for the animals must be constantly at work so as not to forget. The whelps are coming on fast; one, I think, shows great intelligence. Heed them eight pounds of beef a day for the big ones and an for the smaller once, and they take their supper after the performance."

"Not they despise sugar, but love beef to But if they behave very well I give then dring the performance a little tid-but of meat, and Nero would think I was not doing the right thing with him if he didn't get his morsel. My whips indicate the positions for the animals. You could not harte a lion who has a tough hide with a lash, but a whip acts as a protection. You might belabor a lion with a big stick, and he would not cell it. But he does not fancy a stick, the point of which, like a teper, is held in his direction; so if one threatened me I could keep him off. An act I had to give up was where a lion rose and put his forepaws on my shoulders. The claws are very sharp, and any display of endearment would ent through my coat, and wound my shoulders, and a new coat was very expensive. All the lions are fond of me, and we respect one another."—Harper's Weekly.

Dr. Ragnard has raised the question in one of the medical journals as to whether a corpes which sinks to a very great depth is preserved indefinitely or otherwise from putrafaction. According to his researches, which have been published at some length in the archives of the Biological society of Faris, putrafaction is not found to take place in decomposable substances submitted to a pressure of 600 or 700 atmospheres, these figures corresponding to a depth of 400 or 7,000 meters at sea. From these experiments it must be concluded, according to Br. Regnard, that there is autotal absence of putrafaction in the greater depths of the sea. Where There Is No Putrefaction

A new factor is entering the paper makers in this been proved that the banana plant contains a greater quantity of puw fibor than any other of the numerous vegetable products used for the manufacture of paper. During the first twelvemenths of its vegetation the plant only produces a single bunch of fruit effer which it does but from its roots four to ten young plants spring up. The adaptation of the plant to commercial purposes will, it is autoripated revolutionize the paper material market, and largely affect the industry. The plant is easy of cultivation and basions since been recognized by the wandering tribes of Central America.
